Citizens' Banquet to Rev. Robert Pearson

MR. PEARSON LEAVING RED DEER TO BECOME SECRETARY OF THE CALGARY Y.M.C.A.

If any proof were needed of the high esteem in which the Rev. Robt. Pearson is held in the city of Red Deer, the banquet which was given in his honor on Friday evening last must have been most conclusive. Preparations had been proceeding quietly under the direction of a competent committee to make the event a notable one. Generous subscriptions from the representative citizens of Red Deer had made possible a banquet and presentation worthy of the man and of the occasion of his departure.

The banquet was held in the basement of the Gaetz Memorial Church, and was a most enjoyable occasion. Eight tables, decorated with handsome cut flowers and candleabra, with scores of lighted candles and brilliant electric lights, made a brilliant and festive scene. At the head table sat the chairman and toastmaster of the feast, Mr. E. Michener, M.P.P., and on his right the guests of honor, Rev. Robert and Mrs. Pearson. At this table were Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Greene, Dr. and Mrs. Keith, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Gaetz. Distinguished public men were seated at various other tables, Mayor F. W. Galbraith, Ex-Mayor Welliver, Alderman Carscallen and their ladies being among those present. The young men of the Club, which Mr. Pearson has so cordially supported during his pastorate, were also present in goodly numbers, Mr. Johns, Mr. Turnbull, Mr. Coote and wife, and many others prominent in the activities of the Club being present. Citizens in full dress and ladies in handsome gowns graced all the tables, about one hundred and forty being seated.

The banquet was called to order at about eight o'clock, and, after the singing of grace, all fell to with a will to what turned out to be a feast of reason and a flow of soul. The menu was ample and tempting, and the guests did justice to the splendid feast provided by the ladies of the church.

At nine o'clock the chairman called for the first toast "The King," which was drunk with patriotic zest and immediately followed by hearty singing of the National Anthem. Next came the toast "Our Country and the Maple Leaf," sung as only an audience of Canadian citizens know how to sing it. Then followed the toast proposed by Mr. W. E. Payne, "Our City," and responded to by His Worship the Mayor, Mr. F. W. Galbraith, and Mr. G. W. Greene. The chairman in calling for this toast pointed out that this was the first public occasion on which this toast had been proposed, Red Deer having only become a city during the past few weeks. Mr. Payne fittingly referred to the city of Red Deer as the "Baby City of the West." Mr. Galbraith eulogized the attractions and beauties of the city. Turning to the ladies, he said: "I see many of the attractions of Red Deer present here this evening," a sentiment which was greeted with cheers by the gentleman present, for in no city of the west are the gentlemen proud er of the splendid women for which Red Deer is so well known. The Mayor called on the young men present to fit themselves for the positions of public life and for the service of the city, and pointed out that the burdens of public responsibility in these days fell to the young men between thirty-five and fifty. Mr. Greene followed in reply to the same toast, and facetiously remarked that the term gentleman was supposed to embrace the ladies, and that so far as he was concerned, he favored an amplified charter for the city which would extend the suffrage to the ladies and place them on equal footing with the men of the city.

It is impossible to do justice, in the space at our disposal, to the excellent speeches which filled the hours from nine to one o'clock in the morning. The toast, "The Church" was ably proposed by a son of the Scottish Manse, in the person of Mr. A. R. Gibson. With a mixture of superb Scotch humor and Presbyterian seriousness, Mr. Gibson

Alberta Women's Institute

The regular monthly meeting of the Alberta Women's Institute was held Saturday afternoon, May 3rd, in the school room of the Methodist church, with the president, Mrs. Lees, in the chair.

After the regular business of the month was settled, Mrs. Frank Tallman gave an instructive talk on general sanitation, and the disposal of waste. She made many valuable suggestions which, if carried out by each housewife, would undoubtedly greatly benefit the general health of the community. She also gave many interesting facts on etymology in general, and the house-fly in particular. It surprised most of us to learn that one pair of flies may become the ancestors of 8,000,000 in one season. These insects thrive on filth and come from garbage piles, or worse, to our tables. It makes us think seriously when we realize that they carry millions of germs of typhoid, diphtheria, tuberculosis, infantile paralysis, etc.

Other communities have done wonders in the destruction of these pests. Why should not our slogan be "Swat the Fly!"

After some discussion on the above subject, Mrs. F. S. Simpson gave a practical demonstration of the value of the fireless cooker as both a labor and fuel saver.

Mrs. Lees then spoke of the Fir-te-Co. stove attachment, a new invention that is also a great fuel and labor-saving device.

The Alberta Women's Institute is merely a part of the Dominion Women's Institute, whose object is to give the women of our country the latest ideas along such lines as general housekeeping, gardening, care of the sick, sanitation, house planning, etc.

The next meeting will be of special interest. It will be held in the Alberta Ladies' College, the first Saturday of June, at three o'clock in the afternoon. Miss Campbell, the domestic science teacher, will give a practical demonstration of cooking.

Chief Bell Suspended

At the conclusion of the Kelly v. Police assault case, on Thursday afternoon, the City Commissioners met and decided to suspend Chief Bell from duty, owing to his acknowledged repeated violations of the order of the Council and Commissioners that no policeman should drink intoxicating liquors while on duty.

Improvement to The Old Mill Property

Messrs. Latimer & Botterill have greatly improved the old mill property on Gaetz Ave. North. It has been turned into a warehouse, capable of storing a very large amount of goods of every description. It has four stories, is steam heated throughout, and lighted with electricity. They have added in their improvements the most up-to-date electric freight elevator on the market, which lifts 3,000 lbs. It was purchased from the Otis-Fenson Elevator Co. of Toronto. The floor of the lift is 6x8 ft., and it is a power saving machine, as it works automatically, the power only being used while the lift is travelling up and down, and the power is cut off automatically on reaching the top or bottom of the run. The motor is a 7½ horse power, the machinery all being above and running with a single belt. The property has also track facilities, and is now ready for use. Messrs. Latimer & Botterill have recently spent $2,500 on improvements, and are negotiating with two parties with a view of making it a transfer point.

Bell V. Kelly Assault Case

Before Judge Lees in the District Court

The evidence in this case was much the same as in the preliminary trial as far as the prosecution was concerned. P. C. Robertson was severely cross-examined by W. E. Payne, and some words took place between the Crown Prosecutor and Mr. Payne as to the admissibility of the cross-examination. Kelly pleaded not guilty, and W. E. Payne proceeded to call a number of witnesses for the defence. The case concluded at five o'clock last evening. After all the witnesses had been heard, W. E. Payne for the defence addressed the court and pointed out that the police had no right of entry in the first place, and that Chief Bell was responsible for any assault that might have been committed against him by entering the place while intoxicated and using extremely bad language. He also stated that Smith and Robertson had perjured themselves in their defence. Crown Prosecutor Russell said there was as much or more contradiction by the witnesses for the defence. Jud Lees decided that on the evidence before him he should find the accused guilty of assault upon Chief Bell, and that Chief Bell was not under the influence of liquor at the time and was in the execution of his duty. Taking into consideration the manner in which the accused had suffered, he would let him out on suspended sentence, entering into his own recognizances for the same for two years.

League Football

The School and Town Clubs met on Monday evening last, both clubs being well represented, particularly the School, who had been strengthened by the inclusion of Charlie Smith and Art and Chub Carswell, just back from college at Montreal and the university at Edmonton. The first fifteen minutes of the game was very fast, with the school playing by far the better game, their passing being a feature. By the end of the first half the School had the Town run off their feet, and had scored three goals, all fine ones. In the second half the School put in 2 more goals, winning the match by 5 to 0. The School have a smart, energetic team of good size players. All, with one exception, are young fellows around 21 years of age, and all of them ready to turn out daily and practise, which is most essential if the game is to be played right. The Town have some real good footballers in their team, but it was seen from the very commencement that they were in poor condition for playin. With one or two exceptions, they were played out after the first fifteen minutes, all for the want of practice. If they are to make any showing in the League, they have to get down to practice every night. They have the material; it only needs putting in training. Field, the centre half of the Town, received a very bad kick on the mouth, which seemed to take all the heart out of him for the rest of the game. It was purely accidental, but a player should certainly hesitate before he kicks at a ball that another player is heading. Under the circumstances, it is not necessary to criticise the individual play. Day had no chance with the goals that scored, and the School played well to a man.

Hymeneal

A very pretty but quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Baker, Waskasoo Park, on Saturday, May 3rd, when their eldest daughter, Myrtle Lavinia, was united in marriage to Mr. H. Francis Cox, of the Imperial Bank, Red Deer. Promptly at the hour appointed Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Katherine Miller, gave the warning note to the guests. The bridegroom then entered the drawing room, followed by the bride leaning on the arm of her father, taking their places beneath a very pretty arch of evergreens and flowers.

The ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. J. Bennett, was most impressive.

The bride wore a lovely gown of white silk, with bridal veil and orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lily of the valley. After congratulations, a dainty luncheon was served.

The presents, which were many beautiful pieces of cut glass, silverware, table linen, money, and other things, also a beautiful clock from the Imperial Bank staff, showed the esteem in which the young couple were held.

Special Council Meeting

Special Report on Estimates and Local Improvements

The City Council met in special session until 11.30 on Tuesday evening last, the third meeting within a week. A special meeting had been held on Friday morning to visit the Gaetz Avenue South walk and grading and some terracing on Mr. Carswell's corner on Victoria St. The City wanted the gravel, and will fix up the corner and get the gravel. At Tuesday night's meeting all the members were present.

LOCAL IMPROVEMENT BY-LAWS

The session was chiefly devoted to the passing of six local improvement by-laws for work done last year and the consideration of estimates for permanent improvements. The by-laws were :—

Sewers. Cost $3380.36. Charged to property $1,786.62.

Cement Walks, 10½ ft. Cost $7,128.65. Charged to property $5,494.90. Dominion Government $640.50.

Cement Walks, Gaetz Ave. South, 10½ ft. Cost $12,799.18. Charged to property $10,019.14.

Cement Walks, 6 ft. Cost $8,452.92. Charged to property $7,033.82.

Plank walks, 4 ft. Cost $1,220.85. Charged to property $1,145.50.

On walks, the city pays for street and lane intersections, crossings, and two-thirds of plankage in resident districts. On sewers a uniform frontage rate of 7 cents a foot annually is charged.

The plank walk debentures run for seven years, the other for thirty years.

These were all passed through their various stages.

COMMISSIONERS' SPECIAL REPORT ON ESTIMATES

For Capital Expenditures, 1913.

In view of the condition of the money market, and the advice of our bankers, we do not consider it advisable to submit to the ratepayers this year money by-laws except for works that have been completed or that are absolutely necessary.

There is an over-draft on waterworks construction of $23,093.94. The estimated cost of completing the intake well is $976.10, making a total of $24,070.84. We will require about $2,000 for installing service connections and hydrants, so that it will be necessary to submit a by-law for $26,000 for waterworks. This does not provide for any extensions to the mains this year, but we do not consider any are necessary.

On cement sidewalk construction, when the walks contract for last year are completed, and the contractor paid in full, the city's share of the cost will amount to about $8,000. It may be necessary to build several more walks this year, and we consider it advisable to submit a by-law for $10,000 to cover the city's share of cost of cement walks.

It is absolutely necessary to have Gaetz Avenue South brought to grade, the traffic bridge approach re-covered and some other streets graded. Some plank walks are also badly needed, particularly in Woodlea and Highland Park. These are laid as local improvements, a part of the cost being paid by the city. An amount should be provided to cover the city's share of the cost of these.

The estimated cost of these items are :—

Grading Gaetz Avenue South	$2,000
Re-covering approach to traffic bridge	1,800
Grading and gravelling other streets	3,200
City's share of cost of plank walks	1,000
	8,000

A by-law to raise $8,000 for these purposes should be submitted.

About $1,000 was spent last year on permanent improvements to parks. Woodlea Park was brushed and ploughed, and requires to be ploughed, levelled, and seeded down this summer and some trees planted in it. This will cost about $300. Waskasoo Park was partly brushed out last winter, and requires a small bridge over the creek to give access to the park for autos and rigs, also some work on the road through it. $300 should be spent in this park. In Gaetz Park the land between the grove and the river was brushed and rough ploughed last fall. This should be levelled, ploughed and seeded with timothy this year. $300 should do this work.

The east half of the cemetery must be laid out at once and a connection to the water main laid. $100.00 should pay for this work and other small improvements needed.

A by-law for $1,000 should be submitted for parks and cemetery improvements.

A number of catch basins must be built this year to provide drainage for some streets. We have sufficient funds to the credit of the sewer construction account to cover the cost of these, so that it will not be necessary to submit a by-law for this.

We do not consider it necessary to submit a by-law for supplies wanted by the Fire Department this year as they can be paid for out of revenue. The Fire Chief is willing to leave the question of a motor fire truck over until next year.

The new sewer system to serve the eastern part of Parkvale, Woodlea, Highland Park, the Ladies' College, and all of the hills east of town, plans for which are being prepared, will cost about $100,000. It does not appear possible to commence this work this year, but in the fall after plans are completed it might be advisable to submit a money by-law for the amount necessary for the work, so that work might be commenced early in the spring.

We recommend that the Solicitors be authorized to prepare by-laws as follows :—

Waterworks—$26,000, 20 years at 6 per cent. Annual payment $2,266.80.

Cement Sidewalks — $10,000, 20 years at 6 per cent. Annual payment $726.49.

Street Grading, etc.—$8,000, 10 years at 6 per cent. Annual payment $1 086.93.

Park Improvements — $1,000, 10 years at 6 per cent. Annual payment $135.87.

Total $45,000.

We recommend that we be authorized to advertise the following sidewalks to be laid as local improvements. All of these sidewalks need not be laid this year, but it is better to have all advertised at once, and they can be laid whenever it is deemed advisable by the Council.

DISCUSSION ON REPORT.

On the intake well the Commissioners reported that the filter screen at the intake was now being installed.

The proposed sewer system was designed to work east along Fifth St. North, and then north on the town line between 21 and 22 to the river. It would drain Parkvale, Woodlea, Waskasoo, and the hill territory, and the present system would be connected with it.

On the plank walks Alderman Botterill strongly objected to allowing plank walk in the Third St. South Section. Only in exceptional cases should plank walks be allowed west of the C.N.R. The Council agreed with his view, and two of the plank walks suggested were transferred to the cement walk list.

The report was adopted, and the Commissioners will confer with the Solicitor as to the form of the by-laws, the Solicitor rather favoring splitting up the various requirements into more by-laws than the Council deemed necessary.

A MARKET.

Alderman Lord brought up the proposal of a market, believing such would be good business for the town. Other members of the Council were dubious as to its success, owing to its failure in other places, but the Commissioners will get information.

BRING IT IN CITY SCHEME.

Alderman Botterill believed it would be in order for the Council to approach the government re. the change of the provincial court house site to the half block east of the town square, so as to bring it in line with the city planning scheme adopted by the Council. The location of the proposed land titles office also came up, and it was decided to send the Mayor and Alderman Smith up to Edmonton to interview the Attorney-General in the matter.

The Council adjourned at 11.30.

NORTH BATTLEFORD BECOMES A CITY IN SEVEN YEARS.

North Battleford, Sask., May 1.—North Battleford Wednesday night celebrated her passing from a town to a city. Bonfires were burned, bands played, whistles blew and bells rung. Exactly at midnight Mayor Walker read the royal proclamation signed by the Lieut. Governor proclaiming North Battleford a city. Earlier in the evening the mayor and councillors formally opened the new power plant, which is now the second largest in the province. Badges with the wording, "North Battleford, a city made in seven years," are being worn by every one.

Medicine Hat Stolen From Conservatives

Sworn Testimony Proves Ballots Were Changed

(Calgary Herald).

Sworn evidence of the most flagrant election irregularities conceivable is now in the possession of Nelson Spencer, mayor of Medicine Hat, and Conservative candidate in that riding, in the recent election. Mr. Spencer arrived in Calgary this morning to discuss the situation with a number of local men. While he was reluctant to go into details until definite procedure was made necessary by the official declaration of the returning officer, the evidence held by him goes to show that no political artifice had been overlooked in the attempt to elect Hon. R. C. Mitchell, his Liberal opponent.

NOT A REAL ELECTION.

"Under the system resorted to in our riding," said Mayor Spencer, "there is no such thing as election by the people. The whole thing is in the hands of governmental machinery. If Mr. Mitchell is declared elected, he will owe the declaration entirely to the manipulation of disputed ballots. I will give an instance : In Winnifred poll eight ballots were tied up. We have affidavits from six of the eight men whose votes were disputed and placed in envelopes and every one of these legal declarations goes to prove that these men cast their ballots for me. When the eight ballots were opened by the returning officer there was not one among them marked for me.

BALLOTS TIED UP.

In Medicine Hat there were 72 disputed ballots tied up. Sixty-four were allowed. Fifty-eight of these ballots were protested by Liberal agents in the first place. Is it reasonable to suppose that they were disputing their own votes? The same thing that happened to my six votes at Winnifred happened to the disputed ballots in Medicine Hat. At Bray poll there were 33 tied up ballots. I have fourteen declarations from men whose votes were disputed in this poll, all showing that these men voted for me. When the disputed ballots appeared before the returning officer, what was the count? Only 2 of the disputed 33 ballots were marked for me. We have plenty more evidence along this line, but do not intend to make it public until we know definitely the outcome of the attempt to steal the seat.

TOTAL WAS 120.

"I believe that the total number of disputed ballots in the riding was approximately 120. The election act clearly sets forth that these ballots must not be accepted unless the parties casting them are regularly summoned to appear before a court of inquiry, where they must prove their votes. In at least the large majority of cases no such summonses were issued, and consequently the ballots could not be considered at all. Last week the returning officer agreed with us in this, but he apparently got later instructions, for he went ahead and in the court yesterday these ballots were all considered, and many of them accepted.

DECLARATION FRIDAY.

The declaration of the returning officer will be made Friday. If this confirms the report circulated last night that the majority of eight had been worked out for Mr. Mitchell, we will most assuredly ask for a recount before a district court judge. Under the circumstances we do not expect to have to proceed further than this recount to show that we honestly carried the riding."

Mr. Spencer corroborated the story recently published in the Herald, showing how unsealed ballot boxes were being carted promiscuously about at the instigation of the returning officer. When the boxes were brought before the returning officer it was found that over half of them were unsealed.

Trains Will Cross the New Bridge at Edmonton on July 1st

Edmonton, May 1.—The new high-level bridge of the Canadian Pacific railway, which will carry the trains over the Saskatchewan to the new Edmonton terminals, on the north side of the river, is being pushed forward rapidly, and the bridge being built from the south side has already reached the north bank of the river. The bridge is over half a mile long, and 160 feet above water level.

In addition to the railway track of the C.P.R., the bridge, which has two decks, has a double street car track, and roadway for vehicles and sidewalks. It is being built jointly by the C.P.R., the provincial government, and the city. It is hoped that trains will be running over by the time of the second annual celebration of the amalgamation of Edmonton with Strathcona on July 1.

CAPITALIST'S VISION OF SECOND PITTSBURG IN NORTHERN ALBERTA.

Edmonton, April 30.—The location of a great manufacturing city, which will be a second Pittsburg, in the heart of the Peace River district, is the vision of Dr. Hoppe, the retired German physician of San Francisco, who has already paid out over $100,000 in hard cash in development work in connection with his large coal area in Northern Alberta and who is engaged in interesting vast capital in the enterprise.

Dr. Hoppe and those associated with him on our have coal rights, over 30,000 acres at the junction of Sheep Creek with the Smoky River in the Grande Prairie district. At the beginning of the winter, a trail was built into the property from Hinton on the Grand Trunk Pacific, a distance of 90 miles, and a large staff of engineers and surveyors have been engaged during the past few months in making exhaustive examinations and doing actual development work.

Word has been received by Dr. Hoppe from Ottawa that the railway charter applied for by him to develop the coal fields has been granted. This is the Athabasca and Grande Prairie railway and under the charter 400 miles of railway are to be built to connect the coal fields with the main lines of the Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk Pacific railway and points in northern Alberta.

Dr. Hoppe believes that millions of dollars will flow into northern Alberta in connection with industries which will spring up around the immense coal fields now being opened up.

British Cavalry Horses to Be Bred in Alberta

(Calgary News-Telegram).

John F. Ryan, famous horseman and manager of the National Breeding bureau, is at present in the city in the interests of the bureau. Referring to the report which was published some days ago to the effect that the British foreign office was about to make Canada a nursery for the cavalry remounts, Mr. Ryan stated that Alberta would be the province which would be eventually the breeding and nursery grounds for British cavalry horses.

For five years the bureau of breeding has been distributing thoroughbred sires to different parts of Canada until these have now been scattered from Prince Edward Island to the Pacific. A new company, composed mainly of men who have financed the bureau of breeding, has been formed, and this company has secured a lease on the big manoeuvre area on the Red Deer river for 21 years, and when plans are completed horses for the British empire will be bred and raised there by the thousand.

Badly Ulcerated Leg
Zam-Buk Cured Her When So Bad She Had to Use Crutches.
For varicose sores, bad leg, or chronic sores, Zam-Buk is without equal as a healer. A proof of this is just to hand from Montreal. Mrs. T. Edwards, of 164 Amherst St., writes: "Some time ago a bad sore broke out on my left leg near the ankle. For a week or two I did not heed it, but it got so bad that I could hardly walk. I sent for our doctor, and he told me that I would have to lay up with the wound. I did so for three weeks. At the end of that time the ulcer healed a little, but I could only move about by using crutches.
"The sore then broke out badly, and the doctor told me that the only thing that would cure it would be an operation, and that I should have to lay up for a year. This I knew was impossible, as I had a family to attend to.
"My son hadcured a bad cut on his finger by using Zam-Buk, and he advised me to give this balm a trial. I did so, and in less than a week's time it gave me wonderful relief. It stopped the pain, which had been so bad that many nights I did not get a wink of sleep. In a very short time the wound was so much better that I had no more sleepless nights, and was able to move about and do my work. I persevered with Zam-Buk, with the result that the wound is now perfectly cured, and the limb is as sound and strong as ever. To any person suffering from ulcerated sores I would say, 'try Zam-Buk.'"
Zam-Buk is just as good for piles, abscesses, boils, scalp sores, blood poison, festering wounds, cuts, bugas, scalds, bruises, eczema, eruptions and all other injuries and diseases. All druggists and stores, 50c. box, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse harmful substitutes and imitations.

Wholesalers Prefer Eastern Eggs to The Produce of Alberta

Carloads of Them Are Shipped In Here and Ten Cents per Dozen More Paid For Them. Reasons Pointed Out at Dairymen's Convention at Olds

Olds, May 1.—That carloads of eggs were brought into Alberta from the east and bought up by wholesalers at ten cents a dozen more than is being paid for the local product, that butter is being imported into the province from New Zealand, and shipped from the east and bought up here eagerly, are some of the facts brought out at the Dairymen's convention at Olds which was brought to a conclusion today.

The egg incident, as sprung by A. W. Foley, was somewhat of a surprise to those in attendance, but the cause of it was explained by C. Marker, dairy commissioner, who pointed out that what the market wants is a steady supply of produce that can be counted upon. The local egg which received by the storekeeper may be fresh and it may not—nobody knows. The egg from the east is gathered in many instances by poultry circles and bears the mark of that poultry circle to guarantee its freshness, consequently the wholesalers would rather purchase the surer article at a bigger price than to run the risk with local stuff that may or may not be fit to use. Then again the wholesaler is looking for a steady supply, and where he can get that he is going to buy his produce. This place is in the east, and he knows that if he orders a carload of eggs from the east he is going to get them. With the west it is different, the supply cannot be depended upon either for quality or quantity, and so the local produce is very much ignored and the farmers wonder why.

TO REMEDY CONDITION.

It was the purpose of the dairymen's convention in bringing A. W. Foley, of Edmonton, poultry expert, to Olds, to tell the convention just such things and to open up a discussion on the matter with a view to remedying conditions that necessitated the shipping of eggs from the east.

Mr. Foley suggested that the only remedy was that the producers should form themselves into egg circles, gather the eggs fresh from the nests every day or so, and having thus from a number of farmers gathered up a sufficient quantity, to ship them in perfectly fresh condition to central distributing points where they could at once reach the consumer as fresh eggs. The trouble at present was that the eggs were taken to the store keepers in dozens, they were stored with odiferous groceries which destroyed the food value of the egg, they were often stored in windows where the heat was excessive, and were started on the fermentation stage, and then when the storekeepers had gathered sufficient of them to ship, he would send them in in whatever stage of freshness or decomposition they might be.

PREFER IMPORTED BUTTER.

It was no wonder the dealers preferred the eastern article on which they could depend was the declaration of C. Marker in speaking to the point. The same thing he argued was the matter with the butter industry. At present, he stated, that New Zealand butter was coming into Alberta, and was very much preferred over the local supply simply because it was better. In the first place, he said, the New Zealand butter at this time of the year is fresh grass butter as New Zealand is now in the midst of summer. The Alberta butter now on the market is butter from last summer which has been kept in cold storage, and which of course has lost a great deal of its flavor.

Under such conditions there is little wonder that the consumer will purchase New Zealand butter when he can get it, and the only way to remedy this condition of affairs, said Mr. Marker, is for the Alberta farmer to go into winter dairying, and at the same time make better butter in summer, so that it will stand the cold storage and come out when the scarce season is on, much better than it does at present.

MUST WAKE UP.

The New Zealand shipper is sending his butter here, paying a duty on it, paying heavy shipping charges, and is then competing against the home produce and making money on his produce. "Alberta farmers must wake up," is the injunction of Mr. Marker. To produce better butter she must produce better cream which must be graded and paid for according to grade. Grading was in fact the text of Mr. Marker's address to the dairymen yesterday morning, and he pointed out that the middleman was not the one to satisfy in the finished product, but rather the consumer who is always ready to pay a higher price for the better article.

The greatest drawback in this respect is the indifferent patron of the creamery, and it is only through the basis of payment in the grading system that this indifferent patron can be eliminated.

TEN YEARS' GROWTH.

Mr. Marker pointed out the growth of the western market in the past ten years. In 1913 the Dominion government was operating and selling all the products of the creameries in Saskatchewan, and the output was then 750,000 pounds, while last year Alberta and Saskatchewan turned out 4,000,000 pounds of butter, at the same time 11,000,000 pounds of butter were shipped from the east to points west of the Great Lakes, and New Zealand shipped in 5,600,000 pounds.

DUE TO POPULATION.

This expansion in the market is due to the increase in population. The great amount of ice, cream now consumed is also creating a great demand for dairy products, and despite the fact that the creameries of the province have a much larger output they cannot in any way keep up with the increasing market. B. C. is one of the great fields for the dairy products of Alberta, and this field should be cultivated by Alberta, is the assertion of Mr. Marker. Eleven creameries were closed during the past year in Alberta, and seven new ones opened, and the output of these creameries, which amounted to 3,000,000 pounds of butter, sold at 27 cents and netted $810,000.

The cheese industry of the province was on the decline, and against an output in value of $27,500 in 1910 is placed an output in 1912 valued at $5,000.

One of the difficulties in the dairying business, as pointed out by Mr. Marker, is the scarcity of labor; but this, he said, was being overcome by the mechanical milker which is rapidly reaching an ideal standard, with a price reasonable to the average dairyman. He stated that while away in Europe he saw machine that if perfected would find a ready sale on this side of the water.

COW TESTING.

Cow testing was also dealt with, Mr. Marker urging the farmers to eliminate as quickly as possible the non-profitable cow. In this he stated that the government would stand ready to assist the farmer in testing his cattle.

The convention closed by the adoption of the report of the resolution committee which recommended that the department of agriculture be asked to strike out from the dairy act clause (d) Sec. 35; also asking them to keep on operating the government cold storage plant at Calgary at a cost of two cents per pound of butter, and any further cost to be borne by the government, also that the department be asked that they have a list of printed matter sent to new settlers in the province.

FOOTBALL

(By Old Sport)

Here we are again. The football season is once more in full swing. Red Deer is off to a good start with four teams in the league and, judging from the matches played, there is going to be keen competition for the League Cup and for positions on the representative team for the provincial matches. Red Deer makes quite a showing these days in football matter. Each year the quality of the games improves, as well as the enthusiasm, and we are now beginning to realise the value of school football among the juniors, and all credit is coming to the donor of the "News Cup" and the efforts of C. W. G. Moore in this connection. This playing of games among the school boys, instead of kicking a ball about aimlessly, was the one thing needed to bring the game to the front with the juniors, and I am somewhat surprised that the clubs outside of the school club have not got after some of the juniors; probably they will wish at the end of the season they had done so. The Fire Brigade appear to be strong again this year. They have some new players who would be a credit in a higher class, but they were fortunate in getting off with a win of 1-0 over the Callies on Thursday night, for although they pressed most of the game, the Callies defence was sound, and they could only score once, and at the other end the Callies missed some ridiculously easy chances of scoring, but as they only had four forwards, there was some excuse. The School made a draw with the Callies, and are to be commended for their showing. They are strengthened by the inclusion of Art and Chub Carswell, and are likely to make things a bit warm for the other teams. The Town team, at the time of writing, have not played a game, so that they are an uncertain quantity. For some reason of late years there has been a difficulty of getting a team for the Town. I think it is because the other teams are connected with public institutions and thus have a greater opportunity of finding players. However, it is to be hoped that the Town will muster a full team, and that all the teams in the league will support the officers in playing the game clean and obeying the referee; and that the people of the town will turn out and support the players with their presence and, where they can, by the help of their pocket, for by encouraging clean sport of any or every description they are not only helping the game, but also the players to a sense of their duty to civilization, physically as well as mentally.

The officers of the league would be greatly obliged if they could obtain the assistance of volunteers for refereeing the games.

Sylvan Lake News

(From The Times)

The Sylvan Lake Trading Co. is disposing of its secondhand store.

H. Henrich is finishing his house.

The summer season is coming. Are we all prepared to show that Sylvan Lake is the finest summer resort in Alberta?

The Sylvan Lake business men are anxiously waiting for the government telephone system, as promised by the Department last fall. It is hoped that our Councillors will deal with this matter as soon as possible, in order to have the line working for the coming season.

CALGARY HAS NO READY CASH IN HER COFFERS.

Calgary, May 2.—At a conference today between Mayor H. A. Singott and Commissioner A. J. Samis, it was decided to go ahead with the proposed work for 1913 as the commissioners believe that the financial situation will soon be relieved though there is practically no ready cash in the city coffers at present.

From assurance received from the Bank of Montreal, the commissioners believe that arrangements will soon be completed to secure the necessary funds to carry on the work.

BIG LAND DEAL CLOSED.

A large tract of land situated in the Rosebud district, situated 65 miles northwest of Calgary, has recently been sold to a syndicate of Dutch capitalists and farmers at Rotterdam, Holland. The land, comprising 5,000 acres, will be settled on this year, and at least $50,000 will be spent at once in putting it into shape for mixed farming, which will be followed almost exclusively by the farmers.

According to the Calgary Colonization Co., Ltd., the firm which closed the deal, this is but the beginning of vast colonization work they intend to carry on in the Rosebud district. A fact of utmost importance in connection with the sale of this large tract is that close to $150,500 of foreign money will be placed in circulation in Calgary within the next year.—WesternStandard.

BANKS MUST PAY INTEREST ON DEPOSITS.

Washington, May 1. — Secretary McAdoo has increased the government's deposits in National banks by $10,000,000 and announces that government depositories must pay 2 per cent. interest on all government deposits. This is the first time in history that the government has charged interest on what are known as active deposits.

GREAT COUNTRY FOR DAIRY STOCK.

That Alberta is destined to be the leading province in Canada for high bred dairy stock is the opinion of many of the leading stockmen of the west, and they have good grounds for their belief.

It is a well known fact that the dairy herds of the eastern provinces are being bred too fine, and are confined in too close quarters during six months of the year to be good for them. They are pampered and fed stimulating foods, and petted until they can hardly stand the roughage of ordinary life. Tuberculor cattle are becoming only too numerous among these famous herds of the east, and eventually they will have to be replenished from the hardy and healthy herds of Alberta.

The shipment last week to Manitoba by J. J. Richards & Sons of a car of Ayrshires from his fine herd is an object lesson in point.

Red Deer district certainly leads the province in fine, pure bred dairy herds, and there is no reason to doubt that we shall continue to lead.

The pure air, the mild dry winters and the healthy climate of Alberta all go to make up a healthy herd. Weak and debilitated stock coming from the east soon gain renewed vigor, and grow big and strong. Many animals that remain out all winter in sheds, and grow stronger in flesh and bone, go on the grass in the spring and surpass every time the animals kept in the close stables. Tuberculor troubles are very rare among western cattle, and invariably members of a certain strain of stock brought west will surpass the members of the same family in the east in bone, flesh and general vigor.

All this leads one to the general conclusion that this province is only just beginning to realize its great possibilities, and ere long we firmly believe that we will be shipping our far-famed dairy stock to all eastern provinces, and to B. C. on the west, and the day is not far distant either.

THE WIDER MARKET CRY A DELUSION.

Now that the elections are over, the truth is coming out with regard to the wide markets cry of the Liberal party. It has answered its purpose by assisting in the provincial elections in Alberta and Saskatchewan, and has been worked for all it was worth to deceive the farmer.

Now the financial editor of the Toronto Globe, the leading Liberal paper of the Dominion, says there is nothing to the cry and that our wheat brings a better price in Winnipeg than in the United States, and will continue to do so for some time to come. Read what the Globe man says:

"The reduction in the duty on wheat will affect the Canadian producer but little now. The United States is producing too much surplus wheat in these days to afford us a profitable market there. With reserves on March 31 amounting to about 156,000,000 bushels and a new winter crop coming in about July 1, which promises to greatly exceed that of a year ago, the United States is a huge exporter yet. With her new irrigation methods there are large wheat areas yet untouched. There is promise that she will be a large exporter for many years to come. Prevailing prices in American markets reflect the relative position of the two countries. The present period is a good time to compare prices, as the export season on this side of the water is progressing towards its close.

May, 93½; July, 94⅜; October, 89⅞.

In Minneapolis they were selling: May, 88½; July, 90½; September, 91⅜.

In Kansas City, May, 86½; July, 85⅞; September, 85⅞.

Except for some weeks in December last, cash and future prices in the United States markets have been below Winnipeg.

Britain is the great consuming market of both Canada and the United States. In 1912 60,743,000 bushels of wheat went from Canada to Britain. The past year Liverpool has lately controlled the future market to both countries."

Here is the bald statement from the financial editor of the "Globe, who writes of bald facts to guide him, that the United States market is glutted with grain, and that with every bushel of Canadian wheat admitted duty free to the United States market must come the inevitable result of an excess of supply over consumption in the diminishing of prices.

Here, too, is the statement that the world's greatest consumer of wheat (both United States and Canadian) is Great Britain, whose demand fixes the world's prices. It is Liverpool, and not Minneapolis or Chicago, which determines wheat prices. Chicago represents speculative manipulation; Liverpool fixes the actual value of wheat.

All this is only the plain truth, and must be very galling to those who have pinned their faith to Globe editorial statements in the past.

But there are many other articles besides wheat the farmers of the west, at least, do not want thrown open to the United States.

Do we want wider markets for our butter? No, because we are told by government lecturers at Olds, reported in another column, that New Zealand butter is brought thousands of miles and is underselling the local article in Alberta today.

Do we want wider markets for our eggs? No, because these same people tell us eggs are being shipped into our province by the carload and are selling higher than the local article because they are better quality.

Do we want wider markets for our pork? No, because trainloads of American pork are shipped into Alberta, paying duty and freight, and yet they undersell the local market.

Do we want wider markets for our mutton? No, because mutton is being shipped into Alberta from Australia and is today being sold in Red Deer, shutting out the choice mutton grown by breeders in the Red Deer district.

Do we want wider markets for our timothy hay? No, because our timothy hay market in British Columbia has been captured by the Americans, to the sorrow of hay men of Alberta, even though they have to pay the duty.

But why continue? When a paper like The Globe refutes its own wild ravings in its own columns, it is time for those who have pinned their faith to its teachings in the past to sit up and take note.

Now that there is such a demand for cattle, and farmers and dairymen are realizing the advantage and economy in improving their herds, there will be more than ordinary interest taken in the annual bull sale which is to be held at Lacombe on May 28th. There are 79 animals offered for sale, including sires of Ayrshire, Galloway, Hereford, Shorthorn and Aberdeen-Angus breeds. Reduced passenger rates are offered for the sale, and there will likely be a good attendance of purchasers from all points of the west. Catalogues giving a full list of the animals to be sold can be obtained from E. L. Richardson, secretary and manager, Victoria Park, Calgary.

Eckville

Mrs. D. Clausen has returned home after spending a few days with friends in Red Deer.

Several from this vicinity attended the sale at Mr. McLeod's place near Leslieville on Friday, May 2nd.

A meeting of the Eckville Improvement Co. was held in the hall on Thursday, and preparations were made for holding a celebration on Saturday, May 24th.

Dr. Barrow, of the Provincial Health Department, passed through town on his way to Mountain House to inspect the sanitary conditions at that place.

The school trustees held a meeting on Tuesday evening, and after the usual business was completed, the painting of the school was discussed. It was decided to paint the building, and C. Kitchen was awarded the contract.

Messrs. John and Harry Damron, of Bentley, were in town on Thursday. They were buying beef cattle in this neighborhood, but report that good stuff is scarce.

The steam shovel for work on the Calgary line was brought up again on Friday and work at the gravel pit has started. It is hoped that no more delays will be met and the road completed and set in operation at an early date.

J. Coughlin, who has been keeping his horses near here preparatory to starting the season's work, has moved west to the Mountain House.

Wild Beasts Are Features of Great Interest in Barnes' Big Three-Ring Shows

When the Al. G. Barnes' big three-ring Wild Animal Circus erects its white city in Red Deer on Wednesday, May 28th, it will be the first opportunity that many have ever had to witness a performance of the gatherer presented by this aggregation. Mr. Al. Barnes' position in the circus occupies the same position in the American continent that Carl Hagenbeck, the European, Barnes does to the biggest owner of wild beasts of the man or organization, in the United States. There is scarcely a park, zoo, circus menagerie or collection of animals on this continent in which Mr. Barnes has not a number of his animals either in lease or placed there for exhibition purposes.

The breeding and rearing of wild beasts is carried on by Mr. Barnes in the same manner as owners of stock farms and ranches conduct their business. After an animal reaches a certain age he is placed in the Barnes school for the education of wild beasts, and after a due trial, if found to be susceptible to education, he is placed in a class from which he eventually graduates into a group and is then ready for presentation in an act.

Should he not prove to be capable, or should its disposition prove untractable, it is then leased to some circus menagerie or placed in a park or zoo. As an illustration, one of the feature acts in the show is a group containing seven Persian leopards. These seven represent the pick of nearly half a hundred of the species. That is to say, that out of 50 leopards that were tried out, only this small percentage fulfilled the requirements in intelligence and physical make-up that would qualify them to admission to this group. In the same group there are a pair of South African pumas and two panthers. These, also, are the choice selection of a large number of their kind.

The free street parade, which takes place at 10.30 a.m. on the day of exhibition, in itself is worth miles of travel to witness.

Liberal Officials Pillage Public Domain

Hon. Robert Rogers Had the Evidence

That there was a gang of Western Liberal office holders who plundered the public domain of the West was the charge which Hon. Robert Rogers, Minister of Public Works, made in the House last week, and which he substantiated with the official documents. But most serious of all he showed that Sir Wilfrid Laurier himself signed an order-in-council twelve days after the defeat of the Liberal government on Sept. 21, 1911, transferring a tract of timber land containing 160,000,000 feet of timber to three western political heelers. The men were R. E. A. Leach, of "thin red line" fame, and Dominion lands inspector at the time; Howard Douglas, former superintendent of Dominion Parks, and Political Organizer Perry, who has been the chief Liberal organizer in the West.

EVIDENCE WAS THERE.

It hardly seems conceivable that a government so overwhelmingly defeated at the polls as was the Laurier administration would transfer such an enormous tract of land to political favorites, but the evidence was indisputable, as Mr. Rogers produced in the House the order-in-council signed by no less a personage than Sir Wilfrid himself.

HOW IT WAS DONE.

The history of the case throws an interesting light in the way western office-holders have been pillaging the public domain. Two Americans had secured a timber berth in the Rocky Mountain Park, Alberta. The berth proved to be unprofitable and difficult to lumber, and application was made for a transfer. This was refused, and the Americans turned over their berth to a man named William Crawford, a railway conductor at Medicine Hat, whom the documents read by Mr. Rogers showed was only an agent for Messrs. Leach, Douglas and Perry.

LEACH GETS BUSY.

Mr. Leach then visited Ottawa, and his influence was such that a few days later berth 528 in British Columbia was turned over to the Grit heelers. In addition the government made surveys for the speculators, saving them some $3,000. Part of this tract was sold, but the rest of the transferred berth did not prove very valuable.

SECOND PILGRIMAGE.

Leach made another missionary trip to Ottawa to get a second transfer to berth 532, a tract which had in it 160,000,000 feet of timber. Hon. Frank Oliver turned down the application. But the election over and a change of government just to be made, Leach made another hurried trip to the Capital. Hon. Frank Oliver had not returned from the west and Sir Wilfrid himself signed an order-in-council transferring the tract to Leach and his political associates.

HAD THE LETTERS.

Mr. Rogers read a series of letters between Mr. Leach and Mr. Douglas, which was an interesting commentary on the methods of the Liberal officials and confirms what has always been believed—that there was a systematic plan amongst western politicians and political organizers to plunder Western Canada's public domain.

OLIVER'S CHARGE.

The charge of Mr. Rogers was made in connection with an attack on the Minister of Public Works by Hon. Frank Oliver in connection with the alleged Prince Albert land scandal. Mr. Rogers effectively disposed of that charge, showing that not only had he no knowledge at all of the matter, but that the homestead which was transferred to Mr. Arthur Donaldson, and over which all the outcry had arisen, was transferred owing to the rules which were laid down by Mr. Oliver himself and upon which the Prince Albert land agent acted.

HISTORY OF IT.

Mr. Rogers showed that there was an application for an adjoining quarter section in 1908. R. S. Cook, the Dominion land agent, wrote to Mr. Oliver for advice as to how to act, pointing out that the property was rapidly increasing in value.

Mr. Cook added: "My reason for referring this back to you is on account of the situation of the land and the fact that a bridge is now building across the river which will make this land valuable in the very near future, and as a consequence I would like to be perfectly clear as to what action you desire taken."

The reply was that the notice should not be advertised, but that the application should go to the "first eligible applicant."

WENT TO RELATIVE.

"My honorable friend evidently did have a special and particular applicant," remarked Mr. Rogers, "for the records go to show that the entry went to a man by the name of Everett, who was a laborer in the town of Prince Albert, a brother-in-law of the homestead inspector, and the Liberal organizer of that district. Mr. Everett got the homestead because of his relationship to a friend of the Liberal party, and I understand he was able to sell the property a short time afterwards for $10,000 and to divide the proceeds with his friend Mr. Gladstone, the Liberal organizer.

CELEBRATION AT CROWN CAFE ENDS IN COMMITTAL FOR TRIAL OF KELLY, AND SUSPENSION OF CHIEF BELL

Quite a sensation was caused on Thursday morning last, when J. D. Kelly, C. P. R. brakeman, was brought before Jos. Wallace, J. P., charged with assaulting the police in the execution of their duty. The case caused quite a stir in town, owing to the fact that the man charged with the assault was most severely beaten up, and appearances pointed to the police having used a great amount of violence and brutality in handling him, and it was rumored that a charge of drunkenness would be brought against Chief Bell.

It appears that a number of friends of the proprietors of the Crown Cafe were holding a celebration after closing the place for business, and, according to Constables Robertson and Smith, they had been told by Constable Reidy to keep their eye on the place. Consequently, they visited the cafe on Wednesday morning about one o'clock, as they considered there was too much noise being made by the singing and shouting. They told the men gathered at the counter to cut it out, and they were told by the proprietors and the man Kelly to get out, as they had no right to be on private premises without a warrant, and it is alleged that Kelly became abusive and struck at Smith, and, Chief Bell then entering the premises, it is also alleged that Kelly then struck him in the mouth. The police then hand-cuffed him, but a crowd of his friends got round him and rescued him, taking off the handcuffs, and he escaped through the back door. The police followed and arrested him, and with some difficulty got him to the station. The police say he went part of the way peaceably, but on getting to Gaetz Ave. he sat down and shouted for help. On their return from the cells they found a crowd of people around Chief Bell whom they dispersed.

Constable Smith admitted that Kelly asked for a doctor in the cells, but he did not call one because Kelly was able to walk around. The constables denied that Chief Bell was the worse for liquor at the time, or that Kelly's bruises were due to the way they had handled him.

During the trial W. E. Payne, solicitor for Kelly, asked for the truncheon carried by one of the constables, and on its production he demanded that it be impounded and confiscated as contrary to law. It had a head of metal covered with leather.

Chief Bell on being called corroborated the statements of the night policemen. He said that he pushed Kelly, and Kelly struck him in the mouth, causing his lip to swell and bleed. He said he had not seen Kelly after delivering him to Smith and Robertson to take to the station. He had seen blood on Kelly's forehead, but had not noticed his eye. The crowd told him if he did not release Kelly, it would cost him his job. He denied to Mr. Payne that he was the worse for liquor at the time, although he had had four drinks during the day, and he had also been drinking in the bars for the past year. He had seen Kelly fighting that day in one of the bars, but he had not arrested him because he was not asked to do so. Constable Reidy bore testimony as to Chief Bell's mouth bleeding, and the crowd threatening him. Kelly had not asked him for a doctor till the afternoon, when he appeared to be in a very sick condition, and was nervous and shivering all over. He had not complained of pain in the back.

W. E. Payne said he would call no evidence for the defence at this time, preferring to reserve it until the trial. He considered the entire blame lay at the door of over-officious policemen. They were not asked to enter, and there was not sufficient disturbance for them to do so. The way the accused man Kelly was beaten up was an outrage, and the whole evidence so far pointed to the fact that the prisoner had received his injuries while in the hands of the police. Apart from that, the assault on Chief Bell was very mild, and such a complaint from a police officer was childish. The magistrate said he had no alternative on the evidence but to commit the accused for trial at the next court of competent jurisdiction. Bail was fixed at $2,000, $1,000 for the accused and two sureties of $500 each. The accused was then released. A. H. Russell appeared for the Crown.

Citizens' Banquet to Rev. Robert Pearson

described the hard and bitter religious feelings of a generation ago in Scotland and elsewhere, but was delighted to know that sharp dissensions on religious matters had given place to an era of religious good feeling and amity, and that the spirit of union had to no large an extent displaced the spirit of doctrinal war and denominational animosity. The Rev. W. G. Brown, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, replied to this toast, and gave a brief and interesting addr ss, speaking of the church from different standpoints, from the standpoint of authority, which had been responsible for such wide difference of opin on. Mr. Brown then discussed the church from the standpoint of unity, and declared himself as not in favor of the organic union of the churches as proposed in Canada between the Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists. There had been some notable examples of union which had been afterwards given up as unsuccessful, and he thought some system of federation of the different churches, as proposed and discussed in the United States, a better solution of the question. The speaker referred to his personal and church relations with Mr. Pearson as having been the most cordial and pleasant possible, he never having enjoyed fellowship with a minister of another church any more than with the minister of Gaetz Memorial. Mr. Brown also referred to the service and the rewards of the work of the church, and urged a spirit of co-operation among all the churches in the study and solution of the moral and social problems of the age.

"The Press" was proposed by Mr. William Robertson with his usual ability, the speaker foreshadowing the time when Canada would reach a higher standard of perfection, and stating that already the provincial press of Western Canada was showing a larger angle of vision and a spirit less local and less provincial. Mr. E. Hunter replied on behalf of the press. Mr. Carswell was also assigned to speak for the press, but was unable to be present. Mr. Hunter pointed out that while the pulpit and the press had usually been associated together as two of the great agents for the uplift of the race, it must be recognized that they occupied totally different fields and dealt with different subject matter. A broad distinction was suggested by the speaker in the statement that the pulpit was "ran" for the salvation and moral perfecting of the human race, while the newspaper was run for money, and was first and last a commercial proposition. Mr. Pearson was referred to as an "asset" to the newspapers of the province, and on behalf of the press assured the guest of the evening that he would always be sure of a headline and a paragraph when he could furnish the press with a good "story" either in connection with athletics or in connection with the Y.M.C.A. work which he was leaving Red Deer to assume.

Mr. Welliver proposed the toast "Athletics." The expectation that this toast would create special interest in view of the fact that the guest of honor was perhaps the most distinguished figure in provincial athletics, was not disappointed. Mr. Welliver made an excellent speech as an athlete of no mean order, and suggested several practical things which the city should undertake for the future generation in the athletics of the city, advocating that a rink should be provided by the city for skating and hockey, and should be paid for out of the revenues of the city. This suggestion coming from the ex-mayor was loudly cheered.

Mr. L. M. Gaetz, another, oldtimer among the athletes of the city, replied. He professed a timidity in speaking which his splendid voice seemed to belie. It is difficult to imagine L. M. and timidity having even a speaking acquaintance, and the fine speech he made was certainly in a class by itself. The speaker has the happy combination of being both a "wit" and a "weight," and covered his particular stunt with considerable ability. Beginning with football, and ending with ping pong, he regaled the audience with some most interesting reminiscences of the glories and the Waterloos of athletics, in the days when Red Deer was young, and when his father's oatfield being now in about the middle of the city. His description of the benefits of skipping was unique, for the exercise of skipping had perfected the ability of the ladies in the art of getting both feet off the ground at the same time, to such an extent that now his wife could open the oven door with both feet in the air and could at the same time balance a lemon pie in both hands. This joke brought the house down, but loses much in the telling.

The speaker fought some of the old battles over again, and the audience were given a reminiscent peep at T. A. Gaetz, G. W. Smith, G. W. Greene, A. T. Stephenson, R. B. Welliver, and, far out on the touch line, L. M. himself, contending for the honor of Red Deer. Touching baseball, "the less said the better" was Mr. Gaetz' timely and wise comment, a reference fully appreciated by "those who know."

The next toast was "The Young Men's Club," proposed by Mr. G. W. Smith, an old friend of the Club, and replied to by two of the younger men, W. T. Coote and F. Turnbull. Mr. Smith referred humorously to politics, which several previous speakers had found some difficulty in avoiding, at least, so they facetiously pretended, and said that there was no gen leman whom he would rather see chairman of the banquet than the member for Red Deer, who had been so closely and beneficially identified with the interests and progress of the town for so many years.

Mr. Smith doubted whether we had yet reached or would soon reach the Y.M.C.A. stage, but stated that the work of the Y. M. Club was along the same lines, and he could wish that the provision made by the Club for the needs of young men and boys were better appreciated and used. Mr. Coote responded, confessing that the members of the Club looked forward to the coming of Y.M.C.A. days. As soon as Red Deer was big enough, and the capitalists of the city would build and endow a suitable building, he would vouch for it that the Club would be willing to make over to such an institution, without charge, all its equipment, The aim of the Club was the same as that of the Y.M.C.A., to make all round men of the youths and boys of the city, and to compass the athletic, intellectual, social and moral needs of its members. Mr. Fred Turnbull was associated with Mr. Coote in response to this toast, and made a unique speech, full of dry humor and sparkling wit. He turned his attention to almost every previous speaker, hitting off the weakness of each, to the vast amusement of the audience. He ridiculed the idea that any part of Scotland could be what Mr. Gibson had claimed for it, "A Garden of Eden," for it was a well known fact that the "knuckle end of England, the Land of Calvin, Oat Cakes and Sulphur," as Dr. Johnson called it, was so barren that the thrifty, canny Scot had had to breed a special race of sharp-nosed sheep to feed between the stones. Mr. Hunter's claim, among the witty speakers of the evening, to be a true Englishman in taking his task soberly, was also slightly deprecated, the nature of the remarks made on the press by that gentleman being excellent proof to the contrary. Mr. Turnbull turned some good bulls. He also made several very neat complimentary remarks about the ladies, and when Mr. Gibson interjected the remark "stick to your subject," Mr. Turnbull said he proposed to do so, and at the same time turned his gaze upon a young lady sitting at his left, for whom he appeared to have a tender regard. The situation caused some good-natured merriment. The best part of Mr. Turnbull's remarks was his clever review of the legislation passed by the Mock Parliament. This was well done and immensely enjoyed. Space forbids giving all the funny things said by the speaker. He stated that in the short space of two hours, and without the aid of the closure, the Mock Parliament had nationalized all the railways of Canada. He gave other striking evidences of the expedition with which changes are made by the power of the Mock Parliament in the hoary and ancient customs of Canada. Referring to Mr. Pearson, one of the best things said during the evening was Mr. Turnbull's remark, "He has been 'a boy with the boys, a young man with the young men, and a man among the men.'"

Following on the heels of this remark came the toast of the evening, "Our Guest," Mrs. Pearson being coupled with her husband in the toast. This was proposed by the chairman and toastmaster, Mr. Michener, in a speech replete with kindly and suitable remarks about the popular guest and his good wife. "You will all agree with me that I have a big subject," said the speaker, a remark which brought forth laughter and cheers. "Not only is Mr. Pearson a big man physically, but he is mentally big, and he is big also in spirit and in sympathies. In this respect he is not thought of so much as the Methodist minister of our city, or as our pastor, but is thought of by each one of us and by all the citizens, irrespective of creed, as our friend. He is a man among men—he is a cosmopolitan. So it happens tonight that we have present, at this banquet in his honor, the representative men of the city, the bankers, the medical men, the legal fraternity, the merchants, the ministers of the city and a splendid representation of the ladies." The chairman referred to the fact that the guest of honor was sometimes referred to in the newspapers as "The Rev. 'Bob' Pearson." All knew that such an expression was not intended as a mark of disrespect, but as a unique expression of entire respect and enviable popularity. The speaker referred to Mr. Pearson's influence among the young men of the city, and expressed the confidence that he would make a conspicuous success in the work of the Y.M.C.A. to which he proposed to devote himself. A remarkable fact was mentioned by the chairman, namely, that in the several years which Mr. Pearson had been in the life of the city he had never even heard a word of criticism directed against him. The chairman himself had not been so fortunate, as the audience well knew, but Mr. Pearson had been immune, notwithstanding the prominent position he had occupied in the life of the city, a fact which speaks volumes for his personal standing among the citizens. Mr. Pearson belongs by common consent to the general proficiency class of men, and is entering a work for which he is eminently qualified. The chairman then turned to a handsome fumed oak Victrola, which was brought into the banquet chamber at this point, and in graceful terms asked Mr. and Mrs. Pearson to accept it from the citizens of Red Deer as a token of their esteem and regard. Mrs. Pearson was at this point the recipient of a handsome bouquet of roses. The toast was then drunk with enthusiasm, someone called three cheers for "Bob," which were given with a ring akin to a campaign cheer, and the crowd struck up "For they are jolly good fellows."

Mr. Pearson responded with feeling to this toast and presentation. He regretted the necessity for leaving Red Deer, and justified his choice of the Y.M.C.A. as a permanent work against the necessity for constant change from pastorate to pastorate of the itinerary. Nothing could have given him greater surprise and pleasure than the present which had been so generously made to himself and his wife. He was extremely fond of the Victrola and the fine music which he had from time to time heard on it. He thought the idea must have originated with someone who was well aware of his weakness, and he promised that he would often think of his friends in Red Deer when he should entertain himself and his friends in Calgary with its music. Other offers of Y.M.C.A. positions had been made to him, but, as all would have taken him out of the province, he had declined them. He was gratified to think that in connection with the position which he had accepted he would be able to remain in the province, and that he would not be far away from Red Deer. This remark was loudly cheered. He was not relinquishing his standing in the ministry by the change contemplated. He advised against any haste in establishing a Y.M.C.A. in Red Deer. This mistake had been made in some towns and cities, and its work had been crippled in consequence. No town in Alberta would make a better Y.M.C.A. town than Red Deer, for the citizens had the proper association spirit. When Red Deer undertook a Y.M.C.A. he hoped to be able to come and give them the benefit of his assistance in their work of getting established.

The last toast was "The Ladies," proposed by Mr. E. G. Johns and responded to by one who spoke as one of them, Mr. Harry Wallace. Both speeches are worthy of extended report, for they were among the choice contributions of the wee sma' hours, but the shears of the editor are relentless. Those who have heard Johns and Harry will know quite well that they provided a treat of the first order pro and con on the subject of the ladies. Johns dwelt on their indispensableness, and Harry on their loveliness. The one envied married life from a safe bachelor distance, and the other advised it to his friend with a wealth of earnest commendation and experience. We must not stop to tell the good things they said, but the speeches were among the best heard anywhere on this subject.

The toasts and speeches of the evening were interspersed with songs by Mr. L. M. Gaetz, Mrs. Harry Wallace and Mr. E. G. Johns. An efficient corps of handsome young ladies waited on the tables. The banqueters did not disperse until close on one o'clock. Altogether, it was a notable occasion, and one of which Mr. Pearson and his good wife will doubtless long cherish pleasant recollections. The citizens of Red Deer in doing honor to the guests did honor to themselves and the city.

MADGE ELLIS, NURSE

Put Her Duty Before Anything Else.

By ROSALIE G. MENDEL.

Nurse Ellis rushed up the boarding house stairs, burst into the little hall bedroom and exclaimed to her roommate, "Hurrah! My typhoid case is declared cured. I'm discharged and Glenn Garnett has asked me to celebrate my freedom from the tyranny of a cranky patient by going to the theater with him this evening. Isn't that jolly? I'm just aching in every bone for a good time—especially with Glenn."

"Well, you certainly deserve it after the strenuous siege you have had," answered Sue Darrow as she pinned her cuffs in her nurse's costume. "I only hope you manage to leave before another call comes for you. You're such a popular little nurse that you are always in demand."

"If the superintendent of the hospital, the assistant superintendent and all the doctors took sick I would refuse to go on duty tonight," exclaimed Madge as she combed her long golden hair. "This is the fourth evening Glenn and I have made arrangements to spend together and every time I've had a 'hurry call' at the last minute. Fate could not be so unkind as to spoil this long anticipated pleasure again."

Good-bye, dear," said Sue, as she grasped her suit case to report for night duty. "Have a good time, and tomorrow you can tell me all about your lark."

Just as Nurse Ellis finished dressing in her new white serge suit and becoming picture hat the telephone gave a long, loud ring. Madge stared at it and then said defiantly: "I won't! I won't answer it." Another and another ring and then she grabbed the receiver and called, "Well?"

"This is Dr. Burns," came the answer. "I have an emergency operation at the hospital that I wish you to report on at once."

"I—I can't tonight, doctor," faltered Madge. "It's impossible. Get one of the other girls."

"What's that? You're not refusing me? Come, come, girl. You are the only one I'll have for this case. I'll call for you in my machine in twenty minutes."

"I hate to say 'No,' but—oh—I simply can't 'go on' again tonight."

"I guess you are not yourself. This is the first time you haven't been ready to fly at a summons day or night," said the puzzled doctor.

"I know, but I am worn out, body and soul; I need this one evening for myself."

"I'm sorry and disappointed," said the doctor as he hung up the receiver.

Madge sat down in the low rocking chair and had a good cry. Then she flew to the telephone, called Dr. Burns, and told him that she had changed her mind and that she was ready to report on the case. He answered, "Good, I knew you were too loyal a little soul to fail me."

Then she telephoned to Glenn. "It's impossible for me to keep our engagement. Awfully sorry. Another operation, and—"

"Madge Ellis," answered Glenn, indignantly, "I won't listen to a refusal. You have simply got to go with me tonight. You're not the only nurse in the world. It's ridiculous that we can't have one evening together."

"I can't, Glenn. Don't urge me any more. If you do I'll cry in just a minute. You go and take some one else."

"You know you are the only one I care to go with."

"It's as hard for me as for you, Glenn. But a nurse's duty comes before anything else."

"I see it does," answered Glenn angrily. "You really don't care enough about going, Miss Ellis, otherwise you could arrange it. Good-bye."

Madge quickly changed her new white suit and hat for her nurse's costume and was waiting at the window when Dr. Burns drove up.

"You're a treasure, little girl," he said, grasping her hand in his big ones. "I have a daughter of my own and I can see there was a special reason why you wanted to be off duty tonight."

"'He' is a special reason," said Madge plaintively, through tears that would come.

"This case," went on the doctor, "is of a little old lady who, it seems, came from the country to surprise her son. In crossing one of the downtown streets she got confused and was thrown to the ground by a truck. I fear she is seriously injured. As yet we have not been able to locate her son. She is as fine as a piece of Dresden china and you are just the girl to pet and take charge of the frightened, lonesome little body."

The operation was a dangerous one. Through the long, hard night the patient's life hung on a thread. But in the morning she was better. Miss Ellis sought her couch for a well-earned rest when released from duty. She awoke after a refreshing sleep and hastened to her patient's bed.

A young man kneeled at the bedside, his arms clasped about the fragile little old lady, who was contentedly stroking his hair. The young man looked familiar. In amazement, Madge saw it was Glenn!

As Madge stood in the doorway Glenn glanced up. He went over to her, grasped both her hands, and leading her to his mother's side, said, "Mother, this is Madge, the dear little girl I have written to you about." Then, turning to Madge, he added, "Dr. Burns told me that your skillful and devoted attention did as much to save my mother's life as the operation. Madge, I can't express my gratitude. What can you think of a selfish brute like me who so cruelly reproached you for doing your duty? How you must despise me."

"I don't exactly despise you," murmured Madge, putting her hand on his sleeve. "And I think you have the dearest mother in the world."

"Then let her be your mother, too," begged Glenn fervently. "You need a mother's love, and I need yours."

GOOD AND EVIL EMANATIONS

All of Us Constantly Sending Out Thoughts According to Our Character and Nature.

Man is like the wireless telegraph. He is constantly sending out messages of peace and power, of harmony or discord, friend thoughts or enemy thoughts. These messages are flying from him with lightning speed in every direction, and they arouse in others qualities like themselves.

We are all wireless mental stations, and are all sensitive to the things to which we have made ourselves akin by our thoughts and life.

If we have developed the coarser side of ourselves, living an animal life, we are sensitive to the animal vibrations and influences that come to us; in proportion as we have educated the brute out of ourselves do we become sensitive to the rays of good.

Many of us have not yet learned to protect ourselves from the conflicting currents of radiated thought from others that are playing all about us. Thought obeys a law as inexorable as that of mathematics. No love can return in exchange for a hatred thought; but if your thought is freighted with love, love will come back to meet its own. To have friends we must show ourselves friendly. To be loved, we must love.

If the God within you—the ineffable spirit of love, of charity—speaks to a man, although he may be a criminal, the God will come out of him to meet it; but if you fling out diabolical satanic forces—hatred, jealousy, envy—they will arouse and call out the devil from the victim of your thought radiation. Good will come out to meet good, evil in response to evil; hatred comes out to meet hatred, love to meet love, because they are affinities. —Orison Swett Marden in the Nautilus Magazine.

The Lost Wurz.

Gregory is the kindest hearted person in the world, and always ready to do a good turn for anybody, be it friend or stranger. The other day he was in a Third avenue car, standing because there was no vacant seat, when a dignified old man rose, indicated the place he left with a courteous bow and got out at Forty-second street. Gregory accepted the seat, but hardly had taken it when he noticed a neat package on the floor. With a bound he was up and after the departing passenger. The car had started, but the old man looked around at sound of the shouting and Gregory let fly the parcel; the paper slipped off, a long string of link sausages sailed through the air and lassoed the old gentleman's silk hat, dangling over his face, which grew purple with rage. In the same moment the kind-hearted Gregory felt himself seized by a strong clutch and a wall broke upon the car, as a stout German woman lamented her lost treasure.

"You throw out mine Wurz!" she cried over and over; mine echt German Wurz I take mine daughter once! Ach, where ist now mine Wurz already?"—New York Times.

Fatal to the Piano.

Unless well seasoned beforehand, a piano, however well made, will go all to pieces in the tropics. At one of the largest London piano houses there is a special room kept heated to a high temperature, in which instruments intended for hot climates are baked for about a month before being sent abroad.

Insects do much damage to pianos in tropical countries. To keep away ants the casters of the piano are placed in little metal saucers filled with water. But unless this is often renewed, the persistent ant waits until dust has collected on the surface and walks across on this.

The "carpenter worm" is another foe. Starting to work on a piano, he by some subtle instinct, is able to bore a way in a direct line for the nice juicy sounding-board, which he soon tunnels out.

NEW STATION IS READY TO FLASH SIGNALS TO SHIPS.

Sarnia, Ont., April 30.—The new wireless station at Point Edward, which has been under construction by the Canadian government for the last few months, was opened for business Tuesday, and will be in service from now on, night and day.

Direct communication can be had with all ships on the lakes equipped with an outfit, as well as any place within a radius of 300 miles.

RIVER THREATENS BRANDON.

Brandon, Man., May 1.—The Assiniboine river continues to rise at this point, and the outlook is now for the first time this season really dangerous for the north end of the city. Last night a further rise of between two and three inches was recorded, resulting in a considerable portion of the north end, which has hitherto escaped, being inundated.

Hog Cholera

Thanks to wise government regulations, faithfully carried out, Canadian swine raisers suffer comparatively little loss from hog cholera as compared with those of many other countries. From time to time, however, this disease appears in various parts of the Dominion where the infection has been brought in some way or other. This disease, which is entirely confined to hogs, is extremely contagious and accompanied by a high death rate. In order to put owners of swine on their guard, the Veterinary Director General, Dr. F. Torrance, has issued a plainly written bulletin setting forth such information as should enable the lay reader to readily detect the malady and understand what course to pursue in the case of an outbreak in his herd.

It is stated that the disease is caused by a germ which may be transferred in virulent form in many different ways, such as on the boots of attendants, the feeding of uncooked garbage, containing raw pork which may have come from a diseased pig, wandering dogs, domestic pigeons, or in the water of a stream flowing through an infected pasture or yard.

Infected hogs lose appetite, become sluggish and, if moved, may cough. They rapidly become thin and weak, liger for a time, or they may die in a few days. Other symptoms that will help diagnosis are described in the bulletin, which contains a number of clear photo engravings of hogs in various stages of illness, as well as sections of internal organs showing characteristic diseased conditions.

Whenever the disease is noticed the owner is bound by law to notify a veterinary inspector. Failure to do this lays one liable to a heavy fine, besides the forfeiture of compensation for the loss of slaughtered animals.

On account of the nature of the subject treated, this bulletin, No. 15 of the Health of Animals Branch, is not being sent out to names on the regular departmental mailing list. Persons who desire copies may receive them by making application to the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa.

Pedigrees and Pay

The time to pay for a pedigree is when it is delivered. While most breeders are honorable, many are procrastinating, some are negligent and a few are downright dishonest.

In order to protect themselves against loss at the hands of the procrastinating and negligent, buyers of pure bred animals will do well when dealing with breeders of whose honesty they have no knowledge, to withhold a part of the purchase money till the pedigree is supplied or at least to deposit it in a bank to be paid upon delivery of proper certificate of registration. This can be done without exposing either buyer or seller to any risk, and is perfectly fair to both. My experience with bank managers is that they are always willing to perform this service for the protection of their patrons.

As a rule the buyer pays over his money or writes his cheque for the full amount at the time of purchasing, and the seller promises to forward a pedigree as soon as possible, then after a year or more of waiting he wakes up to the fact that he has been "done." Sometimes he has sold the progeny of these animals with a promise to supply pedigrees, and he finds himself exposed to the danger, not only of disgrace, but also of an action for damages. Now all of this could easily have been avoided by the exercise of a little caution at the time of buying.

The time of year is at hand when every person, who contemplates buying a pure bred animal, should keep in mind the warning contained in our opening sentence, that the time to pay for a pedigree is when it is delivered.

CUP AND $10,000 PRIZE WON BY FRENCH AVIATOR.

Paris, May 1.—Ernest Gilleoux, a French airman who, on a flight Thursday last, travelled from Biarritz, France, to Killeum, Holland, a distance of nearly 1,000 miles, won a prize of nearly $10,000, and the Pommery, or single day distance cup, valued at $1,500 is open every six months, and the prize is awarded to the aviator making the longest flight in a straight line between sunrise and sunset of the same day. Gilleoux started from Biarritz, in the extreme southwest of France, at 4.42 o'clock in the morning, and after making two stops—at Bordeaux and Villa Coublay—to replenish his fuel, finally reached Killeum, Holland.

P. Daucourt, a Frenchman, won the cup on the last occasion, from Valenciennes to Biarritz, 530 miles.

BEFORE TREATMENT

Peter E. Summers relates his experience:

"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. They is to indiscretion and excesses in youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me the fingers were paralyzed. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, were an electric belt for three months, but received little benefit. I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through the nerves. I was cured mentally and physically. I have sent them many patients and continue to do so.
